23rd ECO Council of Ministers
16-17 April 2018, Dushanbe, Tajikistan
Foreword

I take great pleasure in bringing you this issue of ECO Chronicle for the year 2018. Since the last issue, we have had a rather eventful stretch of time and as the events and activities covered in this issue will demonstrate, ECO is on an upward trajectory which is mainly due to the momentum and drive provided by the ECO Heads of State at the 13th ECO Summit in Islamabad last year.

We at the ECO are fully aware of the aspirations of our Member-States and, as reflected through our ECO Vision 2025, we are committed to the goal of regional integration and economic prosperity for the ECO Region. To achieve its goals and meet the challenges of present times with respect to the trending global agenda, including the post-2015 development agenda and Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), ECO needs full support from its Member States.

It is both heartening and elevating to note that the Member-States of ECO are showing their full commitment and support to the programs and activities of ECO, as the pages that follow will depict.

ECO is also striving to expand its external relations through seeking new partnerships and strengthening existing cooperative arrangements with the regional and international organizations. The time period covered in this issue saw new MoUs signed and channels established with International Organizations such as WIPO. It is important that we should bring to our Member-States the benefits through effectively implementing the MoUs that we have signed with our global partners.

Let me conclude with prayers for this region’s prosperity and a very bright future for its people. I hope you enjoy this issue of the ECO Chronicle; please also keep an eye on the ECO’s website for the latest information.

Ambassador
Halil Ibrahim Akca
ECO Secretary General

The 23rd Council of Ministers (COM)

Dushanbe, Tajikistan
April, 2018

The Council of Ministers is the highest decision making body of the Organization. The Council shall meet at least once a year by rotation, in the territories of the Member States. The year 1991 saw the first meeting of the Council of Ministers within the framework of the Economic Cooperation Organization. So far, the Council has held 21 regular meetings and three extraordinarily sessions. The 23rd Meeting of the Council of Ministers planned to be hosted by the Republic of Tajikistan constitutes another step for broadening regional cooperation among the Member States for the socio-economic development and prosperity in the ECO Region, as well as further enhancing the cultural affinities. The Council at its 23rd meeting on April 17, 2018 in Dushanbe will, inter alia, consider the following items as per the agenda of the Meeting:

The Council will consider the Reports of the Council of Permanent Representatives, Regional Planning Council, and the Secretariat of the Organization, Sectoral Ministerial Meetings, Specialized Agencies and Regional Institutions. The Council may adopt the reports of these bodies and may make decisions if needed.

As the 22nd Council Meeting in Islamabad adopted the ECO Vision 2025, the upcoming session will consider the progress made with respect to its implementation. The new Scale of Assessment has been on the agenda for consecutive meetings and despite continuous efforts, no consensus has been achieved on the issue. Therefore the agenda also includes the new Scale of Assessment which has been linked to the reform process of the Organization and in this regard is seen as a starting point. Also being considered is the restructuring of the Secretariat. In this context, the staff strength, as well as the recruitment policy may be reviewed and updated.

In recent years concerns have been raised in terms of implementation and operationalization of the ECO Trade Agreement. The ECO Trade Agreement has provided for a 'Cooperation Council' comprised of the respective representatives of the States parties to ECOTA for the implementation of the said Agreement. The Council of Ministers may consider the drawbacks and obstacles for the proper implementation of the aforementioned Agreement and provide recommendations for further cooperation under ECOTA.

The term of office of the incumbent Secretary General will be completed in August 2018. Since the appointment of the Secretary General must be done by the Council of Ministers, the 23rd Meeting of the Council of Ministers will make the required decision, with respect to the nominated candidate for the post of the Secretary General.

The Council may also consider adoption of the Protocol amending Article 5.4.1.10 of the 'Statute of the ECO Regional Institute for Standardization, conforming Assessment, Accreditation and Metrology' which was adopted by the Council in 2009 in Tehran. Under the said article, the Technical Management Boards provided for under the statute of RISCAM shall be established in Iran, Turkey and Kazakhstan. However, Kazakhstan which remained non-signatory to the Statute, informed the ECO Secretariat of its intention, to suspend the establishment of metrology Board in Astana. As Pakistan has expressed its willingness to replace Kazakhstan in this regard, the protocol amending the article has been submitted to the Council for adoption.

The Council is also expected to review the ECO Programme for supporting Afghanistan and consider the new Advocacy Programme which was developed to support the people and government of Afghanistan in their efforts to boost economic development. The first Plan of Action for supporting reconstruction of Afghanistan within the ECO framework was developed in 2003. After nearly two decades and the completion of three major projects, the Council may make the required decision to support Afghanistan based on the principles and objectives set out in the new advocacy programme and the lessons learned and experience gained during this period.
The 2nd Meeting of the Ministers of the Information and Communications Technologies (ICT) of the ECO Member States was held on 5th December 2017 in Baku. The "2025 ECO Regional Strategy for Information Society Development" and proposed "Plan of Action" was agreed by Ministerial meeting to serve as a framework for future joint activities in the field of ICT under the umbrella of ECO. In order to make proper follow up on concrete activities/projects as highlighted by the "strategy pillars", it was decided to establish a Working Group which will regularly meet and update required data, if needed, make revisions to respond to new and emerging needs of the Member States.

Baku Declaration was also adopted unanimously by the Meeting to serve as a basic guiding document for strengthening and enhancing the regional cooperation via exploring the latest trends and benefits of ICT in the interest of the ECO Member States.

In a high-level ceremony, the "ECO Day 2017" was celebrated on 14 December 2017 in Islamabad, Pakistan. The Event, attended by high ranking officials from the host country, ECO Member States, ECO Secretariat, and agencies, as well as regional and international organizations, was honored by the presence of honorable President of the Islamic Republic of Pakistan Mamnoon Hussain, who also addressed the audience.

ECO Secretary General, Halil Ibrahim Akca and the Deputy Chairman of Planning Commission of Pakistan Sartaj Aziz, made welcoming remarks in the ceremony.

The ECO Day The 28th of November is annually commemorated as by which ECO Secretariat and the Member States gather at the ECO premises in Tehran, to celebrate the date of the adoption of the "Protocol amending the Treaty of Izmir" signed on 28th November 1992.

The Protocol was meant to adjust the relevant "Treaty" provisions in the light of the expansion of the Organization to 7 more countries, namely, Afghanistan, Republic of Azerbaijan, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyz Republic, Tajikistan, Turkmenistan, and Uzbekistan.

Although the "ECO Day" is celebrated to mark ECO enlargement from a 3-country to a 10-country organization in early 1990s, this tradition dates back to 1985 when the three founding Members (Iran, Pakistan, and Turkey) of "Regional Cooperation for Development (RCD)" decided to rename their organization as "Economic Cooperation Organization (ECO)".

This was later incorporated in the Izmir Treaty through "Protocol amending the Treaty of Izmir" done on 18 June 1990.

The "ECO Council of Permanent Representatives (CPR)" had decided to organize the "ECO Day 2017" on the sidelines of the 28th meeting of the "ECO Regional Planning Council (RPC)" in Islamabad.

They underlined that by stimulating economic growth and development through enhancing investment in regional infrastructure and connectivity, the region can effectively utilize human resources and benefit from its vast natural resources.

The delegations also underscored that the ECO Trade Agreement (ECOTA) as a preferential trading arrangement can play a crucial role in enhancing intra-regional trade among the member countries and usher prosperity in the region. During his inauguration speech, Mr. Akhtar Khan, described the Economic Cooperation Organization as a major geopolitical block with Pakistan holding a very important strategic position on the world map due to its proximity to China, Russia, and India, Turkey bridging the continents of Europe and Asia, while Iran is situated at the crossroads of Central Asia, South Asia, and the Middle East. Similarly, the Central Asian States and Azerbaijan are uniquely located on the Silk Road and Energy Corridor connecting the giant economies of China and Russia to rest of the world. In his statement, ECO Deputy Secretary General, Kanan Nazarov, maintained that the increase in the volume of trade requires efficient facilitation at the border crossings and an efficient transport network as both are deeply interlinked. He added that as trade and transport are of priority in the ECO Vision-2025, better coordination and cooperation among the Customs Authorities of the ECO and removal of impediments can greatly contribute to regional integration.

He also added that ECO Member States need to move towards automation, standardization, and harmonization of the Customs procedures, as stipulated in the WTO’s Agreement on Trade Facilitation. This will ultimately reduce the cost of doing business and accelerate economic growth and development and benefit both the producers and consumers in the ECO Region. Free flow of goods & services, sharing of Customs information and simplifying procedures for expediting movement of trucks and trains are some of the areas where progress is imperative to move on, he added.

Mr. Nazarov continued by saying that the total trade of the ten ECO countries amounted to US$ 626 billion in 2016 which registered a marginal decline by a decrease of 3.4 percent mainly due to the global recessionary trends which resulted in decrease of global trade from US$ 18 trillion to US$ 16 trillion which was due to a decrease in oil prices. Despite being home to 6.2 percent of world population, ECO’s share in global trade has been stagnating at 2 percent. While referring to the ECO Trade Agreement (ECOTA), Mr. Nazarov expressed hope that the 5th Ministerial Meeting on Foreign Trade scheduled to be held in January 2018 in Islamabad will further explore ways to enhance trade and effectuate ECOTA. schools, learning and teaching will be disrupted in the aftermath of a disaster, often causing children to roam around in the streets where they may be more exposed to abuse, exploitation, and separation from their families in the chaotic post-disaster situation. This might further cause them to lose an entire school year, as they cannot catch up on the weeks or months spent out of school.

Deputy Head of the Organization for the Development, Renovation, and Equipping of Schools of Iran, Ali Shahri, also made remarks highlighting the importance of safe schools for a sustainable future of countries. He mentioned that in 2005, Iran's Parliament allocated 4 billion dollars to retrofit and renovate 9,500 schools. An additional 3 million dollars was allocated in 2016 for school renovation projects to be implemented from 2017 to 2022. This shows the willingness of the Government of the Islamic Republic of Iran in the implementation of the Safe School Initiative under the Sendai Framework. Moreover, charity organizations and the private sectors in Iran contributed over 400 million dollars in 2014 alone for the retrofitting of schools in Iran.

In his remarks, UN-Habitat Tehran Chief Siamak Moghaddam, underscored that schools do not only serve students during the earthquakes or other disasters, but they can also act as a temporary shelter for communities. Although building codes and regulations have been developed in many countries, but the quality aspects of the implementation of the codes have been compromised in the midst of a huge rush towards quantity. He further added that resilient cities and schools can be achievable in the context of "New Urban Agenda" which sets a new global standard for sustainable urban development.

The Workshop included a series of presentations by Margherita Fanchiotti from UNESCO Headquarters in Paris and DRR international expert of the ECO Secretariat, Mahmudul Islam, followed by interactive discussions among the participants on the issues such as global and regional frameworks, including ECO Regional Framework for Disaster Risk Reduction; tools and techniques to implement the 'Comprehensive School Safety' programme, including VISUS tools for assessing school safety; resilient citizenry; culture of safety through integrating DRR and resilience in education system; etc.

Geo-economic Importance of a New Project within the ECO Region

H.E. Mr. Ahmed Gorbanov
The Ambassador of Turkmenistan to Tehran

The third decade of February 2018 will be considered as a new bright page inscribed with golden letters in the glorious history of Neutral Turkmenistan that marks an important milestone on the path of further development of integration processes in the region and international cooperation in a wider perspective. Particularly, it is clear that this process will positively reflect on stability, serve the interests of the world peace and progress, as well as allow Turkmenistan to not only diversify its natural gas exports routes but equally national economy.

Groundbreaking ceremony of February 23 took place in the cities of Serhetabat (Turkmenistan) and Herat (Afghanistan) devoted to the beginning of the next stage of construction of the Turkmenistan-Afghanistan-Pakistan-India (TAPI) gas pipeline, the 500 kV Power Transmission Line and Fiber-Optic Cable along the Turkmenistan-Afghanistan-Pakistan (TAP) route. On the very day, the Serhetabat (Turkmenistan) - Turgundi (Afghanistan) Railroad was also commissioned which will serve the purpose of inaugurating the famous Lapiz-Lazuli transport corridor through Turkmenistan as part of its commitment to integrating Afghanistan to other economic development programs and initiatives.

President of Turkmenistan Gurbanguly Berdimuhamedov, President of the Islamic Republic of Afghanistan Mohammad Ashraf Ghani, Prime Minister of the Islamic Republic of Pakistan Shahid Hakan Abbasi, and Minister of State for External Affairs of India Mobashar Javed Akbar participated in the solemn ceremony.

The giant Galkynysh natural gas field is the origin of the TAPI gas pipeline with proven reserves of 26.2 trillion cubic meters, which is the second largest reservoir of the world that contains ecologically clean and green energy. It should be emphasized that the implementation of this project, in addition to addressing modern challenges of economic and social development in the region, should ultimately play a crucial role in meeting the goals of strengthening global sustainable development. Primarily, the TAPI project is a vehicle to create thousands of new jobs in the stakeholder countries, members of this largest project in the history of the entire region with ever-growing energy demand.

As per the project's objectives, after commission, the new pipeline with the total length of 1,814 kilometers will supply 33 billion cubic meters of Turkmen natural gas that will reduce dependence on less friendly means of fossils, thus drastically changing the regional carbon footprint.

With a pipe diameter of 1,420 millimeters (or 56 inches), the project spans through the region with 214 kilometers in Turkmenistan, 744 kilometers through Afghanistan, 826 kilometers through Pakistan while ending at the township of Fazilka in north-western India. As the Turkmen proverb vividly explains - "A true neighbor hurries to help, without waiting for a call," Turkmenistan since Independence has repeatedly provided humanitarian aid to its brotherly neighbor, Afghanistan.

Construction of the new Serhetabat-Turgundi Railway is yet another testimony to the commitment of the Turkmen people to fraternal ties with neighboring countries and will definitely boost Afghanistan's access to the outer world in a similar pattern of the Kerki-Akkina Rail Link and brighten its chances of exporting agricultural products, carpets and other goods, hence giving hope to millions of Afghans to lead the path of reconstruction and rehabilitation. Eventually, these projects along with the TAPI Gas Pipeline, Power Transmission Line and Fiber-Optic Communication Line, beyond serving the above expected objectives of sustainable development with far-reaching consequences on the everyday life of millions of people across several borders, must be looked at as a backbone of Turkmenistan's commitment towards implementation of Istanbul Process's Infrastructure Projects where Ashgabat along with Baku is leading. And as the President of Turkmenistan underlined, "This makes us confident in the future of both current and future generations."

This in effect shows how Turkmenistan offers its peacekeeping capital to the service of mankind, and along with the path of creation as per the vision of the Honorable President of Turkmenistan Gurbanguly Berdimuhamedov of these projects they will contribute to the strengthening of friendship, good-neighborliness and establishment of new alliances based on shared interests of mutually beneficial and equal partnerships with neighboring countries and around the world.

With solid economic foundation and the GDP growth rate at 6.5% in 2017, which exceeds 2016 data by 0.3%, Turkmenistan currently heavily invests in its own infrastructure development with about 1,700 large projects worth over 42 billion US dollars are being implemented within central government's development programmes. Turkmenbashy Sea Port as the Gateway to Central Asia is the leading project among all others and will be operationalized in May this year.

In 2017 Turkmenistan continued its proactive engagement both politically and with the global economic system and maintained foreign trade relations with 119 countries of the world. The largest trading partners were China, Turkey, UAE, Iran, Italy, and Russia, which accounted for about 77% of foreign trade turnover.

Among the major achievements of Turkmenistan in 2017 was undoubtedly successful hosting of the AIMAG-V, or the 5th Asian Indoor and Martial Arts Games, in Ashgabat. Beyond being an extraordinary sporting event of such a magnitude in the history of the Neutral Turkmenistan AIMAG-V was a unique opportunity not only to showcase Turkmenistan to the global stage but equally it was a statement that the country is capable to achieve even greater highs in overall development.

Turkmenistan highly values its relations with all the countries of the region, who are mainly members of the Economic Cooperation Organization and attach great importance to their further development and prosperity. We are confident that joint efforts of the Member-States in pursuing constructive dialogue will qualitatively enrich it with new content.

The International Day of Nowruz is steadfastly approaching. It is our common holiday that transcended all boundaries and time. We all look at this occasion as a time to share our wishes of wellbeing, prosperity and do more of good deeds for the future of our relations among our communities, countries, and regions.

Turkmenistan as the country who supported the idea of the recognition of Nowruz at the United Nations is also gearing up with its preparations to celebrate it with much enthusiasm and joy as our ancestors did for quite some time. Since then Nowruz became an integral part of our culture. Back in my home country Turkmenistan, the National Spring Holiday - the International Holiday of Nowruz Bayramy will be celebrated on March 21-22 in the "Nowruz Yaşlasynyn Ak Öyi" complex in Nowruz Valley, at the foothills of the Kopet-Dag Mountains, near Ashgabat.

This brings me to the point to utilize this opportunity and to congratulate all your readers, as well as the entire people of the region this wonderful holiday of Nowruz! I wish you all the best in the New Year!

Its territory covers 652,000 km², the 41st largest country in the world. It has a population of approximately 32 million, the 42nd most populous country in the world. Afghanistan joined Economic Cooperation Organization (ECO) in 1992. The fact that five out of six Afghanistan's neighbors are ECO Member States (Iran, Pakistan, Tajikistan, Turkmenistan and Uzbekistan), and the profound solidarity of Member States towards the Afghan people have created forces which fuel the drive for assisting the country create a better future. This can be made possible through supporting reconstruction and development in Afghanistan.

What Is the ECO Fund for Recons

The establishment of a Special Fund for ECO participation in Reconstruction of Afghanistan was agreed at the 12th Council of Ministers (COM) meeting held in October 2002 in Istanbul and was strongly supported by the 7th ECO Summit on 14 October 2002 in Istanbul. The 14th COM (September 12, 2004, Dushanbe) approved the modalities for establishment of the SFRA and instructed the secretariat to commence the implementation of four projects approved by successive Council of Permanent Representatives, namely, the construction of a maternity hospital in Faryab Province, a school in Bamiyan Province and a block within the Ministry of Rural Rehabilitation Training and Research Center (MRRD) in Kabul, in addition to the construction of the Deh Mazang Public Park and rehabilitation of the Kabul Zoo.

The Fund was deemed as highly relevant as more than three decades of war and conflict have left a longstanding
The main purpose of the Fund was to "be utilized for financing Afghanistan’s priority projects and any other activity requested by Government of Afghanistan in connection with reconstruction of Afghanistan on a case by case basis". The total pledges by the Member States to the Fund were US$ 11,150,000. This comprises US$ 5 million by Pakistan, US$ 5 million by Turkey, US$ 1 million by Iran and US$ 150,000 by the Republic of Azerbaijan. An amount of US$ 3,550,000 was realized and transferred to the Fund (US$ 2 million by Pakistan, US$ 400,000 by Turkey, US$ 1 million by Iran, and US$ 150,000 by the Republic of Azerbaijan). In 2014, a new list of projects was proposed by Afghanistan to be funded by ECO fund. The 25th RPC in 2015 also took note of the financial and executive issues of the completed and ongoing projects and requested the member states that have not transferred their pledges to the ECO SFRA as yet, to do so, enabling the secretariat to complete the ongoing projects and to initiate new projects, as the Fund’s performance and to develop a new ECO advocacy approach for Afghanistan including new possible missions for Fund.

With the exception of a school project, to-date, the other 3 projects have been completed. The construction of a school in Bamyan Province is still unfinished pending final report by the relevant authorities in Afghanistan. There was also a large list of proposed projects which fell short of financial resources available through the Fund.

In light of the current situation, ECO Heads of States have mandated the ECO Secretariat to develop a comprehensive Advocacy Programme, which will be approved in the 23rd Council of Ministers (COM) Meeting in Dushanbe, Republic of Tajikistan.

The Economic Cooperation Organization & Sustainable Human Development

Ugur Kilicarsalan, Director for Human Resources and Sustainable Development
Maryam Torabi, ECO Staff

From its designation at the World Conservation Strategy in 1980, the main objective of sustainable development has been a state of society where resources and living conditions continue to meet human needs without undermining the integrity and stability of the natural system. In other words, sustainability or sustainable development can be met through economic and social development in a way that the needs of the current generation are met while considering the wants of the future generation. Despite differences on what precisely is considered sustainable and how to put the very notion into operation, states and international organizations strive to eradicate poverty while assisting the wise use of natural resources.

The Economic Cooperation Organization (ECO) has for more than five decades thrived to become a driver of global economic growth through regional cooperation. The Organization’s Directorate for Human Resources and Sustainable Development (HRSD) deals with the matters relating to human resource development, social development, health, disaster risk reduction, and civil registration. Moreover, the ECO Vision 2025, which seeks to assist the Organization in achieving its objectives by supporting Member States to realize their own sustainable plans, has mandated the Directorate to help increase standard of living, quality of life, economic welfare and well being of the people of the region through adopting social protection and environment preservation policies within member states.

In a world where climate change is projected to increase in frequency and intensity, Disaster Risk Management has gained center stage at the Organization. The ECO Region is one of the most disaster-prone regions of the world. Most countries in the Region are highly vulnerable to disasters such as earthquakes, floods, landslides, and drought. Over the past two decades, there has been a steady increase in the incidence rate of disasters in the ECO Region. During 2000-2015, about 333 natural disasters were reported in ECO Region that cumulative-ly affected more than 70 million people. The majority of the 470 million ECO Region’s inhabitants live in the moderate to very high risks earthquake hazard areas.

In 2005, Governments around the world committed to taking action to reduce disaster risk, and adopted a guideline to reduce vulnerabilities to natural hazards, called the Hyogo Framework for Action (HFA). As the Framework requires, disaster risk reduction has to be integrated into sustainable development policies. ECO Member States responded quickly to the global Disaster Risk Management agenda in 2005 by organizing regional events to for information sharing, dissemination of DRR education materials, and advocacy for policy change. The importance of DRR cooperation among the ECO Member States has been recognized in most of the ECO Summits since 2006. The annual ECO International Conferences on Disaster Risk Reduction are among the leading events to discuss enhanced regional cooperation based on experiences gained by the national disaster risk reduction strategies/institutions in the ECO Member States as well.
tively where the need for a more focused and action-oriented cooperation roadmap emerged. The 8th conference will hopefully be organized in Turkey this year.

The ECO Secretariat is following Disaster Related matters globally, becoming an appreciated player in global efforts on Disaster Risk Reduction. The first major agreement of the post-2015 development agenda, the Sendai Framework for Disaster Risk Reduction 2015-2030 (Sendai Framework), recognizes that the State has the primary role to reduce disaster risk but that responsibility should be shared with other stakeholders including local governments, the private sector and other stakeholders including regional organizations. The SFDRR also calls for the adoption and implementation of national, sub-national, local and regional disaster risk reduction policies, strategies and plans, across different timescales, with targets, indicators, and timeframes.

In line with its Framework responsibilities, the Economic Cooperation Organization finalized the ECO Regional Framework for Disaster Risk Reduction (ECORFDRR). The Turkish Disaster and Emergency Management Authority (AFAD) hosted the 2nd Experts Group Meeting for finalization of ECO Regional Framework for DRR on 11-12 October 2017 in Ankara. In a joint ECO-AFAD programme on 13th October 2017, the “International Day for Disaster Reduction” was commemorated by Member State officials and representatives and relevant regional and international organizations.

The ECO Framework for Disaster Risk Reduction today serves to reduce the impact of disasters through fostering more efficient planning, creating common information systems and exchanging good practices and programmes for cooperation and capacity development. It also seeks to address common and trans-boundary disaster risks and assisting Member States in developing and implementing the right approaches and sound policies “to jointly respond to disaster emergencies” through concerted national efforts and intensified regional cooperation.

Ensuring healthy lives and promoting the well-being for all at all ages is considered as an additional key aspect of Sustainable Development. Increasing life expectancy and reducing some of the common killers associated with child and maternal mortality, along with access to clean water and sanitation, while addressing many different persistent and emerging health issues are essential to sustainable development.

Recognizing its significance, the ECO Member States have to date convened three Ministerial Meetings on the issue. The 3rd ECO Health Ministerial Meeting was held on the sidelines of 69th World Health Assembly in May 2016 in Geneva, where the Member States represented in the meeting expressed their wishes to closely cooperate on streamlining the draft Plan of Action on Health Cooperation in ECO Region.

The Economic Cooperation Organization is the most relevant regional framework in this part of the world where global and regional attempts can be accumulated in the interests of the Membership to fulfil 2015 development agenda.

Understanding the concept that humans are the real wealth of a nation, the Organization has placed priority on the concept of Human Development. The notion of Human Development essentially involves a long and healthy life as possible, access to education that enables filling an attractive job and access to a wide range of goods and services. In the context of sustainability, as the activities of human beings are inherently dependent on the surrounding environment and resources and the quality of their lives relies on the health, social security and economic stability of their society.

The First Meeting of Heads of National Civil Registration Organizations of ECO Member States was held on 3-4 October 2011 in Tehran. The objective of the Meeting was to provide an opportunity for the ECO Member States to exchange their experiences on important issues related to civil registration and associated services. Participants also shared experiences and best practices in their respective countries on areas such as registration of vital events; production and release of population statistics and information; National Codes and Smart Cards; promotion of safety and security factors for issued documents; civil status registration and E-Government. The Educational and research co-operation was also on the meeting’s agenda.

The 2nd Meeting of the ECO Heads of National Organizations for Civil Registration on the 17 October 2017, in Istanbul, provided another timely opportunity for the Member States to agree on possible regional arrangements on civil registration cooperation. The Organization believes that the objective of any ECO regional supporting programme in civil registration should be to assist the Member States in developing capacities to operate and maintain the fundamental systems of civil registration and vital statistics in a coordinated manner. This may include publishing subject-specific handbooks on civil registration and vital statistics systems; organizing the regional workshops on the improvement of civil registration and vital statistics; best-practice sharing programmes; etc.

The implementation of ECO Vision and the Sustainable Development Goals is a timely opportunity for the Member States to reconsider their priorities. The establishment of the HRSD Directorate shows the awareness of the importance of the human development of the Member States which can only be effective through the commitment of the Member States. Now the Onus is on us to demonstrate our collective commitment towards eradicating poverty, achieving sustainable development and building a better future for all.
Introduction

Tourism has played an increasingly important role in the economic growth of many countries since the beginning of the new millennium. Over the past six decades, tourism has experienced sustained expansion and diversification throughout the world. In this period, it has become one of the largest and fastest-growing economic sectors. All around the world, an ever-increasing number of destinations have opened up to, and invested in tourism, turning it into a key driver of socio-economic progress through the creation of jobs and enterprises, export revenues, and infrastructure development.
According to the estimates by the United Nations World Tourism Organization (UNWTO), tourism has experienced virtually an uninterrupted growth over time, despite occasional shocks, demonstrating the sector’s strength and resilience. International tourist arrivals have increased from 25 million globally in 1950 to 278 million in 1980, 674 million in 2000, and 1,235 million in 2016. Parallel to these developments, international tourism receipts earned by destinations worldwide have raised from 2 billion dollars in 1950 to 104 billion dollars in 1980, 495 billion dollars in 2000, and 1.2 trillion dollars in 2016. The developments in tourism have reflected significant figures including that the 7 percent of world exports and 10 percent of world income are arising from this industry. Moreover, the tourism industry has increased faster than world trade and economy for the past five years. According to the latest figures, more than every one out of ten jobs in the world economy is in the tourism sector.

Thanks to their high income, traditional international traveler sources namely North America, and Europe, have been an attractive source for international tourism service suppliers. In recent years East Asia and especially China have been added to the picture with their increasing income and population. From 2012 China has been the leader in the international tourism expenditures.

Another interesting UNWTO finding is that most of the international tourists travel within their own region, preferring to visit neighboring countries instead of travelling to a more distant country.

UNWTO’s long-term forecast report “Tourism Towards 2030” forecasts that with an annual increase of 4.4 percent average for emerging destinations and 2.2 percent increase for advanced destinations, tourist arrivals will peak at 1.8 billion travelers in 2030. In other words, it is estimated that emerging destinations in the tourism industry will receive the lion’s share of tourists in comparison to the advanced destinations.
Tourism in ECO Region

The ECO Region with an area of more than 8 million square kilometers stretching from central to the south and south-west Asia and a population of around 465 million inhabitants is well-known for its natural beauty, as well as the diversity of its historical and cultural heritage. In this respect, the region has a significant potential to be one of the major tourist destinations in the world.

Moreover, the Region is one of the world's richest in terms of historical and cultural heritage and echoes ancient memories of the Silk Road. Moreover, ECO region is located between two important global tourism markets i.e. Europe and China.

The number of tourists visiting ECO region in 2016 is around 50 million people which constitutes 3.8 percent of total global tourist arrivals. This is also reflected in the tourism-related revenues of the region which implies that the region as a whole attracts only 2.4 percent of the world total international tourism expenditures. Unfortunately, with respect to the Region's potential and population, this ratio is relatively modest.

Average direct contribution to GDP in ECO region is close to the World average. However, figures of the total contribution of tourism expenditures to the GDP are lower than World average. In 2016 more than 10 percent of GDP accounted for tourism and related industries. Nevertheless, this ratio for ECO region was 6.5 percent. Tourism contributions in Azerbaijan and Turkey are higher than in the rest of the region for the aforementioned year. According to the World Travel and Tourism Council (WTTC) estimations, the year 2016 saw more than 3 million individuals directly and 6.5 million individuals indirectly employed in tourism and travel economy in the ECO region. Around 37 billion dollars -10 percent of total good and services export in 2016- was from tourism revenues.

Uzbekistan and Iran, the two important ECO Member States in terms of culture, tourism, and history, have not been able to receive the deserved share from international tourism market. The number of The tourists arrivals in these countries are slightly lower than expected potentials.

Tourism and ECO-Vision 2025

Despite various activities and events on tourism, the ECO Region still lacks a comprehensive regional strategy for sustainable tourism development.

Isolated activities of the Member Countries have not served the regional tourism development in general. To utilize the great potential of the region, diversification and easement of tourism activities, availability of quality services and visibility of the area is a necessary requirement.

Under these considerations during the preparation of ECO-Vision 2025, tourism is accepted one of the main cooperation areas by the ECO Member States. The strategic objective of tourism is "to establish a peaceful and green tourism destination with diverse products and high quality services in the region". Moreover, increased in tourism promotional activities.

vi. Tourism related human resources development and capacity building activities will be promoted.

vii. Relevant rules and procedures in the tourism sector will be adopted in the ECO Region.

viii. 'Standardization and accreditation bodies' and 'sustainable and green tourism' monitoring relevant mechanisms will be established and improved in collaboration with standards of the international tourism bodies.

ix. Private sector and local community involvement in the tourism activities will be strengthened.

x. Diverse means and new solutions will be developed and utilized to address emerging issues and range of markets to best serve the ideals and goals of sustainable tourism in the region.

Conclusion

Tourism has become the leading sector in economic development in the last 60 years throughout the world. It contributes a lot to employment, investment, export and national incomes directly and indirectly. So far, although the ECO region has a great potential in terms of its cultural, historical, and natural and health tourism, it has failed to realize its tourism potential. Taking into account that ECO countries urgently need to earn revenues from all sources including tourism, which has a significant potential, they need to adopt a strategy develop this sector throughout the region. In order to achieve this objective, it is of utmost importance that the related provisions of ECO vision 2025 will be implemented.
